Privacy Filtering & Marking people

- ▶ Marking People
 - ▶ Can mark people on import of GEDCOM
 - ▶ Can be useful for tree maintenance
 - ▶ Can individually mark people
 - ▶ Can use people side bar to mark easily
- ▶ Privacy filtering
 - ▶ Used to avoid disclosing personal details
 - ▶ Used to protect identity of certain people
 - ▶ Accessed through preferences
 - ▶ Can be used in charts & reports to make sure certain people don't show up

Editing Tree charts

- ▶ Basic element is a box
 - ▶ What's included in the box is specified in the layout
 - ▶ Boxes can be edited for color, lines, look
- ▶ Chart Orientation
 - ▶ Path it flows from beginning to end
 - ▶ Available under Tree->Orientation
 - ▶ Select Live preview for instant updates
 - ▶ Zoom out to get a better view
 - ▶ Depends on charts type selected

Editing charts - Orientation Options

Orientation	Description
Top-To-Bottom	The fashion of a typical organizational chart starting at top-center and moving down – fanning left and right as it moves down the chart.
Bottom-To-Top	Opposite of "top-to-bottom."
Butterfly	Begins with source box top and center. A vertical line drops from the source box and attached to that line are the children of the source box, moving down chronologically. Each child of the source is a "source" box for a waterfall chart showing the descendants of the original source's children. Children of the source box appearing on the left of the center line have descendants falling to the left. Children of the source on the right have descendants falling to the right.

Editing charts - Orientation Options

Right-To-Left	Opposite of "left-to-right."
Combinations	Combination orientations include: Top-To-Bottom, change to Butterfly, back to Waterfall Top-To-Bottom, change to Waterfall These orientations do exactly what they say: combine different orientations in a chart. Using the number buttons, you can determine at what generation the chart changes.
Tips	For Orientation tips see the help file

Editing Charts - Trimming Boxes

- ▶ Reunion automatically trims based on style selected and the width of text in the box. Height is set automatically based on information in the box.
- ▶ Change the orientation and then change the trim for a different look
- ▶ Each - each box is treated independently and the width trimmed accordingly
- ▶ Generations - each generation is set to the width of the largest box in that generation. Each generation is treated independently
- ▶ Uniform - All boxes are the same width
- ▶ Justify - for Waterfall orientation. Adjust box width for right side of boxes to align
- ▶ For trimming only one box or a selected group of boxes - Control-click and select the trim option for the selection

Adding Pictures

- ▶ Pictures on the chart
 - ▶ Select a box, Select Object->Put picture
 - ▶ Drag & drop images onto the chart
 - ▶ Paste pictures from clipboard
 - ▶ File->Place picture
 - ▶ Can change frame, size, and border of picture
- ▶ Pictures in boxes
 - ▶ Before a chart is created check Include: Preferred pictures
 - ▶ After chart creation:
 - ▶ Select a box, Control click, Select photo to use
 - ▶ Drag and drop picture to box from the chart
- ▶ Can align, size, and frame pictures in a box

Type of Charts - Timeline

- ▶ Depicts lifespans of people as horizontal bars
- ▶ Useful to see who was living when
- ▶ Defaults to All people
 - ▶ Recommend changing to descendants of current couple
- ▶ Select name format
- ▶ Select # of generations
- ▶ Limited to 1200 people

Who: All people (10845)
 Marked people only (10843)
 Descendants of current couple

Generations: 4
